The Feast of Church Hill Grange.

Whoever loves good living, Good fellowship and mirth,
To share the feast of the Grange,
The Grange of the earth, Mid barbecues and burgoo Forever he may range, But tonight he'll find exceeding
The Feast of Church Hill Grange.
The roads are full of coaches, Loud laughter fills the air, Long tables fill the green grove With odors rich and rare;
And every thing is smiling And beautiful and strange Enriches like a halo
The Feast of Church Hill Grange.
With hasting-pans the dusky cook, Henceforth the trenches glowing,
Red pepper, vinegar and salt, On juicy carcasses throwing;
The Afrio "possum-broilers" scorn
The modern kitchen range, And Egan like they barbecue
The Feast of Church Hill Grange.
Dick Caudle is a gentleman, In stature six feet high,
The way he carves mutton Would charm the hostess' eye;
And stately dames are boiling Hot coffee on the range, Blissful spirits how they brighten
The Feast of Church Hill Grange!
The wagons all are laden With hamp-rs sweet and nice, Just like the blessed gospel,
For all men without price, Delicious sprouts, mince pie,
For him who's fresh of change—It costs the hungry nothing,
The Feast of Church Hill Grange.
Rich cake in endless columns, Tall pyramids of tongue, Billions of white bread sweeter Than points ever sung; Roast turkey, short and mutton—Their multitude is strange, It would staff the host of Xorxes,
The Feast of Church Hill Grange!
Here drink, ye faint and thirsty,
And here, ye weary, rest, Where fair and gentle women Wait on the hungry guest, Banish, oh way-worn pilgrims, Cares which the brain derange; Eat, drink, be merry and enjoy
The Feast of Church Hill Grange.
But see the sun is setting:
All things must have an end, We leave with warm "God bless you" For every Church Hill friend.
Ost time is a destroyer,
And work and play change, But ever will remember
The Feast of Church Hill Grange.

NORTH CHRISTIAN.

CHOPFON, KY., June 2.—An effort is being made to re-organize the Grange at this place and the effort should be crowned with success.
Farmers should heed not the voice of those who think it is only a scheme to get some of their money. A man whose knowledge extends no farther than the limits of his own county cannot see the vast amount saved by such an organization.
The Croftonians who attended the convention at White Plains Sunday will ever keep in memory the people of that village and vicinity for their kind hospitality.
John M. Dulin presented us with some of the finest and largest mustard, the other day, we ever saw. So large were the tubs that it looked as though he would take all the seasoning out of hog-jole and an average family could dine sumptuously. Now this may seem like a musta(r)d tale, but those doubling it will be furnished with the proof upon receipt of a postage stamp.
J. E. Croft went to Nashville this week.
The John V. Boyd Post held memorial services here Monday at the M. E.
Church. As the sun put forth her golden rays of light, old soldiers with their wives and children began to gather in the church and it looked as though the church would not accommodate one half the people, but soon a heavy cloud began to form in the west and moved gently over us until our streets were a sea of water, but notwithstanding the rain, promptly at 11 A. M., the Post marched from the hall with Master Oscar Brasher at their head carrying the flag. Beautiful flowers covered the speaker's stand and as they entered the church began to sing "O Beulah Land." Col.
A. H. Clark delivered the oration of the day in a fitting and an appropriate manner, as only those who possess such ability as the Colonel can do. It was a fitting tribute to the Nation's dead.
It has been rumored here that Hampton Walker, who once lived near here, has committed suicide by cutting his throat. Buck.

Every body will be interested in the June number of Demorest's Monthly, as it is an exceedingly interesting one.
The novel plate, "The Fate of Nydia," is a story and very beautiful both in execution and design, and the illustrations are also very fine.
The Fashion Department of this excellent publication is so well edited as to lead many to suppose that it is a fashion magazine, but this is a great mistake; for in reality it is a Literary Magazine of the highest order, with all its departments so ably conducted that every member of the family watches with interest for its arrival.
We know of no magazine better deserving to be called a Family Magazine, and it ought to be found in every refined household. That the publication is a premonition, tells where it stands on the Temperance question. Published by W. Jennings

Louisville Tobacco Market.

[By Glover & Durrell.]
The sales on our market for the week last closed amount to 2,841 hds, with receipts for the same period of 3,503 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount 50,622 hds. The improvement on dark tobacco has not been rapid but it is gradually gaining strength and its position is considered very strong.
Considerable tobacco is being taken now, by out-side speculation on account of the short even prospects. The following quotations fairly represent our market for dark tobacco: Trash—$1.00 to 2.00.
Com. to med. lugs—$2.25 to 3.00.
Good lugs—$3.00 to 7.50.
Com. to med. leaf—$3.00 to 5.00.
Good to fine leaf—$4.50 to 7.00.
Leaf of extra length—$5.00 to 7.00.
Wrappery Leaf—$7.00 to 12.00.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Here, you Republicans, how is this?
Kentucky State bonds are quoted above par. Ohio has a surplus of bonds at a discount to put some money in her empty treasury. Let Mr. O'Bradley take the stand.—Louisville Times.
The working men should bear in mind that Mr. William O'Bradley is in favor of taxing them directly for the purpose of improving the navigable rivers of the State. This policy, if adopted, would double the sum paid by each citizen in the way of State taxes.—Louisville Times.
The Louisville Republican has not strengthened its cause by reprinting Pretence's attack on Gen. Buckner from the Louisville Journal of September 27, 1861. It is a remarkable piece of vituperation, written at the beginning of the war and inspired by the bitterness that divided not only states but families. What Pretence thought or said of Buckner those distracting days can have no influence or bearing on the present contest.—Louisville Commercial.
The Hon. Henry Powell, of Henderson, is the most talked of man in the district for Lafoon's place in congress. Powell comes of a noted family and is considered by those that I have talked with as the best man in the district for the place. With Powell, from Henderson, and Ellis, from Davies, the Second district can rest assured that her wants will be well attended to, no matter which of the two should be chosen to represent her interest at Washington.—Commercial.
Mr. Bradley and his fellow-Republicans claim that there has been corruption in the management of the State Government of Kentucky. They do not pretend to say who have been the beneficiaries of that corruption.
They point to no man who has got rich by hold a State office. If they can find such a man let them unmask him and place him upon his defense.
The truth is, there is no such person.
The affairs of the state have been honestly administered, and Kentucky's financial condition at this time compares favorably with that of any State in the Union, while the taxation is lower than in any State under Republican rule. These facts will be made plain to the people during the next two months, and before August, Mr. Bradley will find that all the wind with which his speech is inflated will not prevent a signal collapse of his political aspirations.—Louisville Times.

Bon Aqua Springs, the Saratoga of the South.

We are credibly informed that this celebrated summer resort has opened this year on June 1st, to guests from any part of the world. Bon Aqua Springs is situated upon an elevated plateau twenty-two hundred feet above sea level. This altitude renders the air delightfully pure and cool, so invigorating to people and so much sought after by all classes during the hot months of June, July, August and September. It is an acknowledged asylum for all suffering from lung diseases or debilitated from the effects of malaria or other disorders.
The resort is situated in a beautiful park of heavy shade trees of about 300 acres. The hotel is a fine building 90 by 240 feet, with galleries twelve feet wide around each floor, and forming a promenade of nearly two thousand feet. The hall room and dining room are each 40 by 80 feet. The cuisine will be in charge of a celebrated Chef and the tables will be set for 300 at one sitting, will be furnished with every delicacy the country affords during the season. In addition to the hotel's capacity, there are about one hundred cottages situated in the proximity close proximity to the hotel, so a place can be secured to suit the tastes of all classes either public or private. One of the important additions recently added is the large bathing house arranged with two general departments, one designed for Ladies only and the other for Gentlemen.
In this building the various kinds of mineral waters will be utilized in the form of hot and cold bathing, under the directions of two Physicians, a lady and gentleman, one for each of the respective departments.
One of the most important features of this resort is the value of the medicinal qualities of its mineral waters.
No less than six different kinds of waters issue from the earth within a few feet of each other, including black, white and red sulphur, arsenic, chalybeate and free-stone. These waters are unlike many other mineral waters and are in reality an exception to the general rule, for the reason that they are cool and palatable and immediately become the favorite of guests for their delicious taste. Their medicinal qualities are known by thousands of people, many of whom have been cured permanently by drinking these waters. Another feature we must not overlook, and that is the facilities for music and amusement. A full band of brass and string instruments will be in attendance as well as pianos &c. For more physical exercises there are boating, ten pin alley, billiards and lawn tennis. Nothing seems to be overlooked to make Bon Aqua Springs just what it claims this season, the "Saratoga of the South." If any of our readers desire to have a pamphlet describing this resort, and a "Bird's Eye View" of the premises, they can have one free of charge by

The Century for June.

The frontpiece of the June Century is a striking portrait of Count Leo Tolstoy, the Russian novelist, engraved by Thomas Johnson from a photograph.
An illustrated paper of the widest popular bearing is the second of Professor W. O. Atwater's articles on food, entitled "How Food Nourishes the Body," and presenting in compact form a large amount of the latest discoveries of chemical analysis and other scientific investigation in this department.
The Lincoln History makes marked progress toward the presidential contest of 1860 by the consideration of events which form a background to a proper presentation of Lincoln's personality, events also which are necessary to an understanding of his positional career. The special topics in the present part are the attack on Charles Sumner by Preston S. Brooks, and the Dred Scott decision of March 6, 1857. These events are rapidly and clearly sketched, and Lincoln's views of the decision recorded in his own words. The portraits include Sumner, Brooks, Henry Wilson, Anson Burlingame, Dred Scott and his wife, Chief Justice Taney, and Associate Justices McLean, Nelson, and Curtis. This record of the circumstances under which the decision was made has the advantage that one of the authors, Mr. Nicolay, has been for years the Marshal of the Supreme Court of the United States, and thus has had special facilities for studying the subject.

The battle series makes a comprehensive advance with a paper by General E. L. Lee on the Virginia campaign of 1864, entitled "From the Wilderness to Cold Harbor," those two engagements and the intermediate ones of Spotsylvania Court House and the North Anna being included in a popular record richly supplemented with illustrations from sketches made at the time, and with official maps. A short article is devoted to the battle of Gettysburg at Spotsylvania, perhaps the most stubborn contest of the war. The writer is Mr. G. Norton Galloway, historian of the Third Corps. The Century's public for the first time a complete resume of the aggregate forces and losses of the Union army in the Wilderness campaign.
Short supplementary "Memoranda" are contributed by General Thomas Jordan on "A Missing Confederate Cipher Dispatch," and by General R. E.
Colston on "Union Sentiment Among Confederate Veterans." There is also an editorial article on "Lord Wolsey's Estimate of General Lee," taking note of the numerous and fundamental historical inaccuracies of General Wolsey's recent essay.

An Illinois wife has become a

A Lady's Remarkable Testimony.
Mrs. Wilson is the wife of R. H.
Wilson, one of the best known citizens of Hopkinsville, Ky. She had a wonderful cure by S. S. S., which she described in the accompanying letter.
Mrs. Wilson would cheerfully give in detail to any sufferer her thrilling experience and joyful cure. She is enthusiastic over S. S. S. as a tonic for delicate women: HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Feb. 24, 1887.
"Seven years ago, a sore developed on my nose from a finger-nail scratch.
I tried a few simple remedies, but the sore would not yield. I grew worse every year for seven years. Many thought I had a cancer. Over a year ago, I began taking S. S. S., and two dozen bottles were entirely cured me.
When I began with Swift's Specific I was in very poor health, and could hardly drag about. After I had finished the course of S. S. S. I was strong and healthy and had a good appetite. I regard it a most invaluable medicine for ladies in weak, delicate health. It is a household medicine with me.
Yours respectfully,
Mrs. R. H. Wilson.

Knew When He Had Enough.

A few days since a well known negro man, who was the fortunate possessor of a fine lot on one of the best residence streets of the city, sold his property for $10,000 cash. He was given a check for that amount, which was carried in due time to one of the banks. The next morning he asked the negro how much of the money he wanted in cash.
"I want all that 'ar paper calls for," replied the negro.
"What! You don't want $10,000 in cash?"
"Jesso, sah,"
"All right," answered the man who shuffles the bank bills, and in five minutes he began to hand the money on the counter. As he laid the $500 packages on the counter the negro's eyes began to grow larger and larger and finally when twenty of the packages were piled before him he looked as large as new moons. The negro looked intently at the stack of money for a moment, and then, with a broad grin on his face, said:
"Wine jine, parlyzed, boss; gimme $150 and you kin keep de rest of that till I call agin."—Chattanooga Times.

BEAUTIFUL NORMANDY.

History of France's Most Fertile and Picturesque Province.
Ancient Normandy occupied the northwest part of France, bounded north and west by the waters of the English channel. It received the name of Normandy in the tenth century from the Northmen who had occupied the country. Charles the Simple, King of France, in 912, sanctioned their re-quest of the province, and gave their chief, Rollo, the title of the Duke of Normandy.
The new duchy soon came to be one of the most prosperous provinces of France. It was a level, fertile country, producing grain, flax and fruit in abundance, and an excellent breed of horses, and with a number of bays and rivers abounding in fish. These characteristics of its soil and climate it is today as it was eight hundred years ago, one of the garden spots of France.
The beautiful garden was often laid waste, however, by the struggles of rival countries to possess it. It was Robert the Devil, the sixth successor from the first Duke Rollo, who came in 1066 the conqueror and first Norman King of England. On his death, England and Normandy were separated, William's eldest son Robert taking the latter country, and his second son, William Rufus, the former. Henry I., the next King of England, ruled over both countries, but his daughter, Matilda, was only Duchess of Normandy.
Henry II. united the two again, and the union lasted till the time of King John, who was forced to forfeit Normandy to France. It was twice held again by the English, first under Edward III. and again under Henry V., and Charles VII., of France, finally rescued the province, and from his time it has been an integral part of France. The title of Duke of Normandy has since been occasionally used, but the province was divided in 1790 into five departments, and is now separately known only by the names of those departments.—Pleido Baines.

Two slight earthquake shocks at Columbia, last Friday morning, reminded the people of South Carolina of the shaking up they received last September. No harm was done.

The Kentucky Press Association should have extended a vote of thanks for staying at home and sparing it a poetical infliction of 39 stanzas.

Following closely upon the report that natural gas has been discovered at Glasgow comes the announcement that Col. Bradley will hold forth there next week. Some people never know when they have enough of a thing.

The debris of the burned variety theatre at Paris has been cleared away and the corrected list of dead is 70, of which 50 were identified. The others were dismembered and burned beyond recognition.

Sawyer, Rep., who was defeated by a Democrat in New Hampshire, but not by a majority of all the votes cast, has been elected Governor by the Republican Legislature, in accordance with the election law of that state.

Mrs. Amanda T. Million has been nominated by the Democrats of Madison county for the office of Superintendent of Public Schools. Madison is Democratic and her election is assured. Why shouldn't a woman hold the office? "There's Millions in it," as Col. Sellers would say.

Jos. I. Oliver, a Justice of the Peace in the District of Columbia, removed from office by the President, refuses to recognize the Executive authority or surrender the office and will take the matter into the Supreme Court of the district. Some of them die hard but they must die.

Sam Jones has volunteered to make prohibition speeches in the larger cities of Tennessee during the present campaign. He spoke in Springfield and Nashville Saturday and Sunday night. He has also spoken at Chattanooga and Murfreesboro and will speak at two other points.

The last meeting of the Press Association was a bona fide business gathering of editors and publishers interested in the promotion of the best interests of newspapers. It was well attended considering the circumstances surrounding the meeting and some good work was done. Next year we may expect to see a still larger gathering and a livelier interest manifested in the annual convention.

What has become of the once popular project, the Hopkinsville and Cadiz Railroad? Has the turnpike fever, which struck our neighboring city, quenched the railroad fires that were once dimly burning? We hope neither the turnpike fever nor the Interstate Commerce Bill will cool the ardor or paralyze the spirit of enterprise that once characterized the corporators of the H. & C. R. R. Company.—Cadiz Telephone.

Our people are still hoping that the road in question may be built, but the prospects do not seem to be very flattering at present.

Interesting Meeting at Louisville.

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Press Association convened at noon Thursday in the Council Chamber, at Louisville.

The following members were present: John A. Lyne, Henderson Journal; L. W. Gaines, Elkton Progress; H. H. Brown, Franklin Favorite; Boone Denton, Banner, Princeton; T. Leigh Thompson, Monticello Signal; Pat McDonald, Argus, Frankfort; W. T. Havens, Sentinel-Democrat, Mt. Sterling; N. G. Overstreet, Hart County News; W. A. Wilgus, South Kentuckian, Hopkinsville; H. C. Snoddy, Elkton Progress; J. M. Richardson, Glasgow News; Richard Gadsden, J. R. Williams, Bluegrass Clipper; D. T. Fackler, Kentucky Advocate; J. S. Moore, Danville Tribune; N. F. Barclay, Democrat, Bowling Green; I. B. Nall, Farmers' Home Journal; Ben Harrison, Henderson News; J. M. Kerr, Journal, Nicholasville; E. Polk Johnson, Courier-Journal; John D. Woods, Capital, Frankfort; John A. Bowen, West End News, Parksville; E. G. Logan, Louisville Times; Urey Woodson, Owensboro Messenger; E. C. Colgan, Elizabethtown Messenger; W. H. Leves, Greenville Echo; Geo. Burroughs, Central City Republican; R. W. Knott, Home and Farm; J. D. Babbage, Breckinridge News; Dan O'Sullivan, Louisville Commercial.

The meeting was called to order by President Hopper, who made an appropriate address.

When Mr. Hopper had concluded Mrs. Alice Hawthorne was introduced and read a poem of welcome. Invitations were accepted to attend the Opera Festival and to take an excursion down the river on Capt. J. T. Richey's boat.

Col. R. W. Knott then addressed the Association on behalf of the young Men's Commercial Club and suggested that delegations be sent from each county to a meeting in Louisville next September to "boom" the state, and its resources. Several gentlemen made remarks approving the suggestions made. Adjourned till 3 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Jas. W. Hopper, President; Dr. John D. Woods, Vice-President; Urey Woodson, Secretary; Ben Harrison, Treasurer; Executive committee: E. G. Logan, W. B. Moody, L. W. Gaines, H. A. Sommers, Pat McDonald and E. Polk Johnson. They will arrange the place and programme of the next meeting.

The Secretary reported that $33 had been collected and that $11.75 remained in the Treasury after paying the expenses of printing and circulating the minutes.

Jno. A. Lyne read a paper on the "Cash System in Subscriptions" which was the only paper read.

The other gentlemen on the programme were all absent.

The Secretary was instructed to have the proceedings printed and circulate the same.

FRIDAY'S SESSION.

A committee appointed to recommend a uniform rate of advertising etc., submitted several recommendations, of which the following were adopted:

"We recommend that no electotype be accepted unless on a metal base."

"As a uniform rate for foreign advertisements we recommend the adoption of the following: Fifty cents per inch per month per thousand circulation for displays, and sixty cents per inch per month per thousand circulation for reading notices, both to take the run of paper for position. These rates to take effect July 1, 1887, but not to interfere with present contracts."

Advertising agents and other matters were discussed at length.

On motion Messrs. Denton, Moody, Sommers and Neal were appointed a committee to draft a bill to be presented to the Legislature providing for the advertisement of sales by the Marshall, Sheriff and the like, and all other suitable matters. Some discussion was elicited on this point to the effect that such a law would greatly benefit the people. The Chair appointed Messrs. Denton, Moody, Sommers and Neal.

After an interesting session the Association adjourned and an excursion was taken down the river.

NOTES, PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The convention will probably meet in Louisville next year.

Uncle Ben Harrison made a satisfactory report of the cash on hand.

J. W. Hopper makes a good president, but is most favorable to a motion for adjournment.

Boone Denton, will not be forgotten when the executive committee makes out the next programme.

Loving Gaines did well for his first attendance, and we believe he took more interest in the Opera than any of the members.

Polk Johnson made an able talk on "The Newspaper man and what he is," and his remarks were well received by all present.

Jno. Lyne is a good member and never dodges a subject. He is the only one appointed who came up with a paper to instruct the convention.

Maj. J. M. Wright did not forget that the boys had ears suitable for operative music and eyes especially adapted to the ballet. He has the thanks of the association for the remembrance.

H. C. Snoddy tackled his last glass coming down on the L. & N., but it flew to his head so quickly he could not stand it, and the brakeman had to clean it up for him. MORAL.—Never try to stick your head out of a car window when it is down.

Capt. J. T. Richey, proprietor of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, gave the members a reduced rate, and an excursion on his steamer, "T. T. Echert," up the river to twelve mile island. Refreshments were served during the trip, and pleasant conversation was indulged in by the many ladies and gentlemen who went along. It was truly a pleasant trip, and Capt. Richey's hospitality will never be forgotten.

WM. A. WHEELER

Dies Unhonored and Unsung.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 4.—Wm. A. Wheeler died at his home, in Malone, at 10:10 this morning. He remained in a comatose state during the night, and passed peacefully away without a sign of recognition of those about him.

He was born in 1818, studied law and politics and was successively a Democrat, a Whig and a Republican. He served several terms in Congress from New York. Was nominated for Vice-President in 1876 and was defeated with Hayes but counted in by John Sherman and the other conspirators who stole the Presidency. He retired from office and like his partner in crime has since lived in obscurity and was entirely forgotten by the public when his death was announced. The following telegram is the only one that appeared in the daily papers with the announcement of his death:

"FREMONT, O. June 4.—Mrs. Hayes and I have heard with deepest sorrow of the death of our friend, Mr. Wheeler. I will attend the funeral with my son. R. B. HAYES."

BLOOMINGTON, ILLS., Sept. 18, 1882. Mess. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Have taken Hall's Catarrh Cure. Had catarrh all my life; am 48 years old. Had asthma 19 years, and a dreadful cough for five years. Have taken everything; went to the Hot Springs; I have doctored with the doctors here; I have done nothing but take medicine for 19 years. When I commenced using Hall's Catarrh Cure I was almost dead. I sent for the doctor the day I got Hall's Catarrh Cure, and I told him that I would die any way and that I would try your medicine. I was very bad. How I suffered for 9 years! I could hardly breathe at times. I saw Hall's Catarrh Cure advertised in the papers and commenced taking it. I would have been under the ground to-day if it had not been for that. I have not had one bad spell of coughing since. In breathing my head feels well and I am well. It has done me a thousand dollars worth of good. There are ten of my friends, on seeing what it had done for me, taking it, and it is helping them. I only wish that every one who has catarrh, asthma and a bad cough could see me, so that I could tell them all to take it. All that know me here know how I have suffered. (I have been here since 1858,) and say to me that "I am glad you found something that could cure you." Everyone says, "how much better you look." The doctors say they are glad I found Hall's Catarrh Cure as they could not cure me.

I cannot express my gratitude to you for the good Hall's Catarrh Cure has done me. You can use as much of this letter as will do the afflicted good. Publish it to the whole world—it is all true and they should know it. JOSEPHINE CHRISMAN, 406 East North St.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The President is soon to visit the Governor of New York. If Mohammed went to the mountain, why shouldn't Cleveland go to the Hill.—Courier-Journal.

It has grown to be the sentiment of the Democracy that Billy O. Bradley's speeches need no answering. Let's go on eating our sheep, listening to our own speeches and drinking our own water, while Billy beats the bushes and bags make more Democratic votes.—Owensboro Messenger.

Yesterday rounded up the first year of President Cleveland's married life. The lovely young creature that he took to brighten the White House and gladden his days upon the earth, has been the object of a tender sentiment that is felt in every man's bosom, and she has added to the popularity of the administration and given Mr. Cleveland a still stronger hold upon the people. The report that Mrs. Cleveland was soon to present him with an heir, turns out to be a correspondent's canard, but it will be just like the good fortune that has always attended the old man, for her to do so just at the very time it will do him the most good, say a few weeks from the next election.—Stanford Journal.

CROFTON.

CROFTON, Ky. June 5, '87.—John H. Myers and Miss Lula E. Clark are visiting Miss Pattie Rowlett, at Rowlett's Station, Ky.

The annual election for school trustees held here yesterday resulted in the re-election of A. G. Bowling. The applicants for the school are greater this session already than last. So it is hard to say who will win, but it looks to a man up a tree like all the Christian county men will be defeated by a gentleman from Hopkins county whose reputation as an instructor in old field schools has never been excelled and we wish they will make such a choice this time.

Born to the wife of Jesse L. Cannon, a boy June 2, 1887.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Woodruff, of Henderson, Ky., and Mrs. J. W. Dillard, of Nashville, Tenn., are the guests of their father, Dr. Rowe. BUCK.

KELLY.

KELLY, Ky., June 6.—We are having an abundance of rain and on two days of last week we had hail.

Wheat is looking tolerably well, but the oat crop will be short. Corn looks promising in spite of cut worms. While many farmers are doing setting tobacco there are others who have much to set yet.

Mr. V. G. Fields is going to leave our town and return to Manly, in Hopkins county. We are very sorry to see him go.

But here we will stop for the best of reasons; we have no more to say. ROYCE.

The St. Cloud Hotel in Louisville is still sustaining its reputation for the proper treatment of its guests, and Mr. Van Layne is about the only hotel man we ever saw who insists on his guests eating more than they want. Mr. C. G. Calloway still presides behind the desk and is the only clerk who can give every guest the best room in the house.
French Lick Springs in Orange Co., Ind., are fast coming into prominence as a summer resort. A branch of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railroad has just been completed to this favorite place, and passengers are afforded all the comfort possible for transit. The waters are said to be superior in strength, and as comes now easy, French Lick Springs will have a large increase of guests. For information regarding these springs or about the L. N. A. & C. R. R., address H. A. Hathaway, Louisville, Ky.

Eld. R. Linn Cave, of Nashville, delivered the baccalaureate sermon of South Kentucky College at the Christian church Sunday night, to an audience that filled the church to overflowing. The sermon was replete with wisdom, pathos, logic, oratory and sound common sense and advice. This was to be expected, as Mr. Cave, who is a brother of Eld. R. C. Cave, belongs to a family of orators and philosophers.
Rev. Montgomery May, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has tendered his resignation to take effect July 1st, the step being taken on account of ill health. Mr. May has acceptably and ably filled the pulpit he resigns for two years past and has not only endeared himself to his flock but has won the respect and esteem of our people. We regret to note his retracing from the ministry, even temporarily.
Bethel College at Russellville, requested the resignation of its entire faculty. The resignations were tendered, after which all of the faculty were re-elected except Prof. R. E. Binford, for several years connected with the institution. Prof. Binford proposes to publish a card giving "the real reasons which lie at the bottom of this unjust and disgraceful transaction." He will open a select school in Russellville.—Clarksville Tobacco Leaf.
The Hopkinsville Water Works Co., has offered to construct water works under the ordinance drawn up for Lowrey & Co., some years ago and voted on by the people. It involves expenditure of $3,000 per annum by the city for hydrants. Lowered failed to come to time and the new company proposes to build them upon the same terms. The matter will be decided at the meeting on July 5.
Sheriff John Boyd took John Bradley to the penitentiary last week. It will be remembered that he is the negro boy given two years for house-breaking, but the court withheld sentence for two months to give him an opportunity to get a pardon. Gov. Knott very properly refused to interfere in a case where the offense was committed two nights in succession and the young scapegrace will serve out his sentence.
Mr. G. E. Galtner has been elected to membership in the State Board of Pharmacy. Mr. Galtner has had 12 years of experience in the drug business and is thoroughly up in all its departments. It is probable that the next legislature will pass a law requiring every drug clerk to be a registered pharmacist, so important is it to have none but experienced men to fill prescriptions.
In filling vacancies on the police force to-day the Council should have the city's good and the law's enforcement in heart. Select none but good and true men who will stop the violations of the liquor laws, the gambling laws and all other laws that are not respected. Gentlemen, the people expect you to do your duty. "Be sure you are right, then go ahead."
During the storm Saturday morning about 2 o'clock lightning struck the telegraph wires near the depot, the current being conducted into the telegraph office. One of the wires was burnt into and the walls of the office considerably scorched. The night operator was sitting at a desk some distance from the instruments and was only slightly shocked.
Eq. Ben D. Lackey was thrown from his horse near Pembroke Saturday while crossing a swollen stream and got a first-class ducking. The animal began to "buck" in the middle of the stream and kept it up until the act of submersion was performed.
Judge Joe McCarroll's house had one of the chimney tops knocked off during the severe storm of Saturday morning at 2 o'clock. There was nobody in the house at the time.
The differences between the Latham Guards were amicably adjusted at the meeting held Friday night.
Commencement Exercises.
The regular commencement exercises of Bethel Female College were held Thursday evening at the Opera House. A fair crowd was present. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. J. N. Prestridge. Nine young ladies read graduating essays, viz: "American Literature," Miss Emma Lee Nelson, Stauntonville; "Standing with reluctant feet, where brook and river meet," Miss Mattie Garrett, Oak Grove; "A Well-Read Woman," Miss Fannie Belle Brumbaugh, Hopkinsville; "Whither Bound?" Miss Alice Moffett, Smithfield; "An Open Door," Miss Mary Belle Peay, Garrettsburg; "Retrospection," Miss Mary Negley, Zion; "Republics vs. Monarchies," Miss Fannie Fairleigh, Hopkinsville; "The Power of Fashion," Miss Lida M. Smith, Zion; "The Graduate's Idea," Miss May Wootton, Longview.
The reading of essays was interspersed with music.
The Diplomas were presented by Prof. Rust and Rev. Mr. Barrow made some remarks.
All of the young ladies did handsomely and each of them received a number of elegant floral offerings.
"Affliction some long time he bore, Physicians were in vain." But had he used Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest blood-purifier known, he might still be living. For all scrofulous diseases this preparation is a sovereign and never-failing remedy. All humors from a simple to an ulcer yield to it. It will cure consumption (which is a scrofulous disease of the lungs) if taken in time. All druggists have it.

JUGGLERS OF WORDS.

The Weak-Minded and Sickeness Concept of Many Literary Men.
Literary men, I dare say, have their faults. I should be very sorry to have all sorts of any class of my fellow-creatures; but literary men have also their faults, whereof (since life is short, however tedious, as art may be) I will only mention one—viz: their intolerable and aggressive self-conceit. Here is some wretched little knock-kneed, weak-chested fellow, whose back is bowed and whose eyes are (practically) blind, who can do nothing in this world but write, and can't do that if a child cries in the next street or an organ grinds in the park; yet he gives himself the airs of a monarch, monarch at the very least. If you ask him to dinner you and all your guests must sit down while he relates some interminable anecdote, or fires off (if they will go off, but they often miss) the terrible "impromptus" which he has spent the whole afternoon constructing over his study table. He has done nothing in his life worth doing; he knows nothing in the next world really worth knowing; he has no science or skill or art, under heaven, except the art of stringing words together, and he can't even do that at all decently unless he is given plenty of time. Yet on the strength of having written half a dozen morbid and unnatural stories, or some poems that nobody can read without going to sleep, or having put together a bundle of ill-natured criticisms or edited some wrong-headed newspaper or magazine, he spreads his wretched little jackdaw tail with all the arrogance of a genuine peacock. To hear him talk you would imagine that if he did not actually mislead the world, yet he is quite equal to taking it to pieces and putting it together again. I remember a picture in an old number of Punch in which the bells of the evening were represented as surrounded by a crowd of these creatures—"rising young geniuses," as they are denominated. In the corner are two human beings, and one of them says to the other: "Look at those scruffy, grubby lot, the rising young geniuses, eh?" Well, I must confess that a good many of the eminent literary men of my acquaintance seem to me to answer to these adjectives—"scruffy" and "grubby." I should not like to be brought into terms of very familiar intercourse with them. I should not care to go along, arm in arm with them, to spend a wet day with them in a country house.—London Punch.
JEALOUS COMPOSERS.
Cause of the Ill Feeling Which Existed Between Berlioz and Wagner.
Hector Berlioz, whose statue has lately been inaugurated in Paris, had a violent hatred of Wagner. It arose out of simple jealousy. One day Berlioz went to the reception at the Tuileries, and had the honor of a chat with the Emperor. He inquired about the music of Wagner, and adding that he should like to have a look at it, Berlioz transported with joy, resolved to demand an audience of his imperial Majesty, and he looked forward to the event with eagerness. He was to have a look at the work of the Opera. But days and weeks passed by, and no news came. Suddenly one morning he was informed that the Emperor was in the pursuit of imperial orders, the "Tannhauser" of Wagner was to be immediately brought out at the Opera. Berlioz flew into a passion, and from that moment spent all his time in attacking Wagner. He wrote to a friend, "It is evidently made to order for the Emperor. To another letter he said: 'The public laughed out right at the bad style and burlesque orchestration of Wagner.' When 'Tannhauser' fell he exclaimed: 'Thank God, I am richly avenged!' At length 'Les Troyens' was produced at the Lyrique and turned out a fiasco. It was the deathblow to Berlioz. Wagner in his turn was 'richly avenged.'—Pall Mall Gazette.
A SAFETY LAMP.
An Invention of a Frenchman Which Has Revolutionized the Impossible.
The unsuitability of the Davy safety lamp for mines has become notorious, and a French inventor has supplied "perfidious Albion" with light on the subject. Now another French inventor has produced a lamp with which one may almost play about, and yet escape alive. It is called the "lamp etoile," and an artist by the name of Darle is the inventor. He once had his studio burned down by the upsetting of a petroleum lamp, and so set to work to prevent such accidents for the future.
The great feature of this lamp is that the burning wick is not the same wick which dips into the oil reservoir. To this it owes its almost absolute safety. There are two wicks, one which carries up the oil, and another pressed closely in contact with part of its surface, which supplies the flame by an ingenious system of air passages. The inflammable gas, if any, which forms on the surface of the oil, is carried into the open air, and has no chance of reaching the flame except through the top of the lampglass. By this time, however, it would be so attenuated that it would cease to be dangerous. The inventor knocked one down before the eyes of the correspondents and the flame was immediately extinguished. It actually looks as though Mr. Darle has got around the incendiary cook from the Emerald Isle, that has done so much to annoy the world by being roasted in their beds for their own breakfast will purchase these lamps and look up the oil can. Biddy may at least be safe from the flames in a legitimate way. The impossible has been achieved.—London News.
Perils of an Ocean Trip.
"I hope and pray," remarked a gentleman as he left the steamer, "that I shall never have occasion to cross the Atlantic again."
"Rough passage, eh?" queried a friend.
"Rough is no name for it. I had four kings beat three times."—N. O. States.
It would seem that with age people outgrow the tendency to commit crime. Mr. Z. R. Brockway, in the Forum, points out that of fifteen thousand prisoners in New York State ten thousand of them are more than thirty years of age, while probably eight thousand are under twenty-five years.
Attention has been drawn to the fact that the potato was introduced into England in the year 1586, and that consequently the present year is the ter-centenary of that event.

Mr. Buckner is a Christian county man, having been raised in the south part of the county, and extends a special invitation to his Christian county friends to stop with him when they come to Clarksville. Trouble Ahead.
When the appetite fails, and sleep restlessness and uneasiness, there is trouble ahead. The digestive organs, when healthy, "crave food"; the nervous system, when vigorous and tranquil, gives the possessor no uneasiness at night. A tonic, to be effective, should not be a mere appetizer, nor are the nerves to be strengthened and soothed by the unaided action of a sedative or a narcotic. What is required is a medicine which invigorates the stomach, and promotes assimilation of food by the system, by which means the nervous system, as well as other parts of the physical organism, are strengthened. There are the effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine whose reputation is founded firmly in public confidence, and which physicians commend for its tonic, nourishing and other properties. It is used with the best results in fever and ague, rheumatism, indigestion and uterine weakness, and other maladies.
